

REMARKS

In accordance with the foregoing, an inadvertent typographical error of repeating a phrase "into output data" is deleted from claim 1.

No new matter is presented and, accordingly, approval and entry of the amended claim 1 is respectfully requested.

As evidence that no new matter is presented, please note that, with respect to the phrase in question, original claim 1 recited in the first paragraph in the body thereof:

a data converter for converting input video data into output data...."

As will be seen, the phrase "into output data" appears only once.

On June 13, 2002, the clause in question was amended to read:

a data converter to convert video input data into output data...

The Amendment filed June 30, 2003, on the other hand, inadvertently repeat the phrase, so as to read:

a data converter to convert input video data into output data of each pixel into output data....

By contrast, independent claim 5 was amended to recite:

wherein video input data are- of each pixel is converted into output data....

Similarly, independent claim 7 recited:

converting video input data of each pixel into output data....

The Remarks of that Amendment made frequent reference to the correct phrase, e.g.: "input video data is converted into....output data (see page 3, the third paragraph from the end at line 3 and the second paragraph from the end at lines 2-3; see also page 5, the first full paragraph at lines 5-6 and elsewhere.)

In short, it is submitted to be clear that an inadvertent repetition of the phrase "into output data" occurred in the June 13, 2003 Amendment and the same should be deleted.

The foregoing amendments to claims 5 and 7 moreover have changed the recitation of "video input data" to --input video data-- so as to be consistent with the recitations of that phrase in each of the paragraphs in the body of claim 1 and as well in subsequent paragraphs in each of claims 5 and 7.

Serial No. 09/626,967

The need for these changes was first recognized when reviewing the allowed claims following receipt of the Notice of Allowance and hence could not have been previously made.

Accordingly, approval and entry of the foregoing claim amendments are respectfully requested.

Entry of this Amendment is respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted,
